

SUSPECT COLONY PATIENT MURDERED BY FELLOWS

HAIL DAMAGE FRIDAY P. M. THRU COUNTY

Many Windows Broken
and Some Buildings
Were Moved

The first heavy electric storm to pass over Dixon and vicinity struck just after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and from reports coming in from various parts of the county this morning, considerable damage was done by heavy hail in some sections. Locally the lightning caused some damage. The residence of Dr. Clarence Smith, 205 Hennepin avenue was struck, a cold bolt tearing away a part of the chimney but not otherwise damaging the property.

A large tree on Peoria avenue near Fifth street and the bolt created considerable excitement among pupils in the small buildings west of the high school. The lightning systems in the school rooms were put out of commission and some of the teachers took their pupils to the high school building until the storm had passed over.

A telephone pole near the Dixon Home Telephone company's office was struck and damaged. Electric service was hindered, but in Dixon and surrounding community, not seriously hampered.

SHEFTER JURY DISAGREES; TO GET NEW TRIAL

Jury Stood 9 to 3 to Convict Him; Out
Forty-two Hours.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Sycamore, Ill., April 25.—An early re-trial of E. A. Shetter, DeKalb Jeweler, formerly of Dixon, on the charge of manslaughter, is anticipated. After the jury disagreed yesterday after deliberating 42 hours, State's Attorney Poust asked the court to place the case at the top of the calendar for the June term of court.

The jury deliberated from 8 p. m. Wednesday night until 3:15 p. m. yesterday when Judge J. K. Newhall discharged them without agreement appeared impossible. The jury stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal.

Shetter was tried for the killing of William Jay of Moline, Ill., who was struck by the defendant's automobile on Sept. 21, 1924, on the Lincoln Highway five miles from DeKalb.

The prosecution charged that he was intoxicated but Shetter denied it, testifying that he had had only two drinks of grape juice wine on the day of the accident.

SEEK ROBBERS WHO TOOK OATS FROM ELEVATOR

Several Thousand Bushels
Stolen from Harmon
Storage Bin.

A Pinkerton detective spent part of Thursday in Dixon in conference with Sheriff's office in an effort to pick up a clue to the robbers who broke into storage bins of the Armour elevator at Harmon, making their getaway with several thousand bushels of oats several weeks ago. The detectives made inquiry at the local elevators to ascertain if they had purchased any oats lately from any parties whom they might suspect of having stolen the grain. In telling of the robbery of the oats from the storage bins to the local managers of elevators, the detective stated that 6,000 bushels had been stolen. However, L. L. Seago, the manager of the Armour elevator at Harmon, did not care to estimate the quantity of oats stolen, but added that he did not believe it would amount to half as much as had been reported.

Manager Seago states that the storage bin is located about a block away from the elevator office and is in an out of the way place which would make it easy for parties to visit the place without much danger of being seen. He says that the bins filled with oats last October and the doors to the place securely locked, about 25,000 bushels being in the storage house. He visited the place at intervals of two or three weeks during the winter. About three weeks ago on one of his trips to the place he found the door had been pried open and upon investigation found that a large quantity of oats was missing from the bins. A further examination on the outside of the building revealed a sprinkling of oats around the loading chute.

Although it is yet known as the Armour elevator, the Harmon plant is in reality the property of the Grain Marketing Co-operating company, which has its main offices in Chicago. Manager Seago immediately notified the Chicago office of the robbery and two Pinkerton detectives were employed on the case. They have been on the job nearly three weeks, but thus far have not obtained any tangible clue of the guilty culprits. However, they are still on the case and do not expect to quit until trace of the stolen oats is obtained.

Hauled Away in Trucks.

Manager Seago ventured the theory that the oats were loaded into large motor trucks, which will hold from 150 to 200 bushels. He believes several trips were made by a fleet of trucks to haul away the large quantity of oats that is missing. This would mean that four or five big trucks would be required to make several trips to the place to haul away the grain. The manager expressed the opinion that the oats were hauled to some railroad station and shipped to the market, and it is on this theory that the detectives are now working. The Pinkerton agents expect to visit all of the elevators and railroad shipping points with in a radius of 50 or 60 miles in the hope of picking up a clue.

Mr. Seago is authority for the statement that on two different nights parties in Harmon had heard motor trucks in the morning, but and 2 o'clock in the morning, but none of those who had heard the machines was able to describe them.

Mr. Seago said that the discovery of the theft had been kept secret for three weeks in order to give the detectives an opportunity to work unhindered. He stated that a night watchman had been placed at the storage bins for the last three weeks in the hope that the thieves might be seen and no developments which would aid them in the case.

JUNIORS' PLAY ENTERTAINED BIG CROWD LAST EVE

North Side Class to Repeat Fine Comedy at Kindergarten Hall.

The Junior Class of the North Dixon high school presented "Am I In-teresting?" before an appreciative audience in the kindergarten room of the North Central building last night. Patter, and mystery, lovers' quarrels, and deep-dyed plots, were mingled with nonsense and foolery to give a pleasant evening.

The lines were well interpreted by all. Katherine Sullivan as the earnest young author and Louise Brewster as the vivacious French maid, each furnished her bit of philosophy. Eleanor Hennessy as the delightful Dora achieved her much desired thrills. Aletha Hubbell as Violet Vare was ready with tears, smiles and exasperation. Gordon McNicol as Dickie, the romanticist and Fred Hoffman as Peter of the strong opinions, each succeeded in convincing his lady love of his undying affection. William Johnson added the touch of middle aged dignity as the father, Horace Vare. Richard McMullen played the part of the sleek villain and with the assistance of the housekeeper (Rachel Kennedy) almost succeeded in his plot. Arthur Hall gave a convincing presentation of the studious young secretary. Lyle Prescott in the part of the country bumpkin "Jerry" "in-terested" to such good effect that the plot was foiled and the hero rewarded with the heart of the beautiful heroine, Marjory Vare, played by Helen Miller. The audience seemed especially pleased with Eleanor Hennessy's presentation of the hisping Dora, with the clownish antics of Jerry and the clear voice and winning personality of the heroine.

In spite of the difficulties presented by the small stage the scenes were effectively arranged. Grace Stevens and Mitchell Dollmeyer were in charge of this part. The credit for the direction of the play belongs to B. J. Frazer of the English department of the North High.

The play will be repeated this evening. Every seat should be filled.

LINEMAN NEAR DEATH FRIDAY WHILE ON POLE

Fred Renner Burned
By Flash from a Fuse Box.

Fred Renner, lineman in the employ of the Illinois Northern Utilities company in this city, is in the Dixon public hospital suffering from severe electrical burns about the face, which he received in a very unusual accident last evening about 3 o'clock. An electric flash from a fuse box on a pole in the rear of the company's offices on West First street, from a line carrying 2300 volts, burned Renner about the eyes and upper part of his face. The attending physician stated this afternoon that his condition was favorable.

Renner had climbed a pole in the rear of the office building last evening about 5 o'clock to install fuses which had been burned out by the electrical storm about 3 o'clock. He was equipped with transformers and one of the lines had been repaired following the storm, the other being left until the repair crew arrived.

The lineman climbed up to the fuse box, used his life belt and all precautions and installed the fuse. He had loosened his life belt and was in the act of descending to the ground when there was a heavy flash, striking him squarely in the face when his head was directly in front of the fuse box. He was able to descend to the ground and was immediately rushed to the hospital.

GEO. SPADER OF FREEPORT FOUND DEAD

Body Back in Tunnel
Used for Heating
Plant Pipes

Officials of the Dixon state hospital and Lee county were conducting an investigation at noon today it was thought would disclose a brutal murder at the state institution, probably last Thursday night, when George Spader, aged 40, disappeared and did not report at his ward. Spader's body was found this morning in the tunnel system at the institution, the head and neck swollen and discolored and the body apparently in a bad state of decomposition, due to the heat in the tunnel, which is about 140 degrees. The body was not to be touched until Coroner F. M. Banker of Franklin Grove arrived early this afternoon to make his investigation, in company with Dr. Warren G. Murray, superintendent of the institution, Sheriff Elliott C. Risley and State's Attorney Mark C. Keller.

Three Patients Held.

In the meantime the county officers had started the investigation and were working with Dr. Murray at the hospital. Mike "Mickey" Makiynowicz of Chicago, Walter Smith and Jake Sapperstein, patients in the feeble minded wards were being held for questioning.

The history of the case up to the time the body was found this morning was given out by Dr. Murray at noon.

George Spader, aged 40, who was transferred to the Dixon hospital from Lincoln state school and colony several years ago, had been working in the bakery and also was engaged by some of the attendants in cooking for their living quarters, for which he received voluntary compensation. He was thought to have had about $18 in a sack which he said to have been in the habit of carrying about his neck.

Missed Thursday Eve.

Thursday evening Spader did not come to his ward at the customary hour. He had received a letter last week from Freeport, where his mother and a sister are inmates of the Stephenson county home, asking him to visit them last Sunday.

"When the report that George had not reported at his ward, I at first thought that he might have gone to Freeport to visit his mother and sister," Dr. Murray stated, "but having learned that he was in the habit of carrying this money, I telegraphed the Stephenson county officers and then inquired by long distance telephone, learning that he had not been there."

"With receipt of this word I immediately started an investigation but it was not until this morning when Jake Sapperstein was reported to have told one of the landscape gardeners, Mr. Shook, that he thought Spader would be found near a certain man hole in the tunnel system, that we were able to find any trace of him. Spader has a sister, Miss Stella Spader, who is also a patient at the institution in the feeble minded wards."

"The investigation conducted by the employees whom I had notified, led to the detention of Sapperstein, Smith and 'Mickey' Makiynowicz. I notified the sheriff's office and Coroner Banker at once."

Body on Hot Water Pipes.

"One of the steam fitters started into the tunnel and found spader's body lying on some of the hot water pipes and reported to me that the head and neck were swollen and discolored. I then notified the coroner and the body was not touched until he arrived this afternoon."

Makiynowicz had not been questioned concerning the finding of the corpse at an early hour today, but was taken to the office building at the institution, began talking about Spader at once. He is reported to have made the statement to General Supervisor John Sharp, "You don't think I hit George in the head do you?"

He with Smith and Sapperstein were to be turned over to Sheriff Risley this afternoon and held pending the action of the coroner's jury following the inquest.

Officials at the state hospital were of the belief that Spader had been choked to death and the money taken. It was also thought that his assailant may have dragged the body into the manhole and then back some distance to an obscure place where it was laid on the hot water pipes, directly under some steam pipes. It was at the request of Dr. Murray that the trio be held pending further investigation. Two of the men had small sums of money when taken to the offices and searched.

Damage in County

The south and east part of the county was visited by heavy hail, while in this locality, a welcomed rain fell. Reports this morning indicate that the hail had done considerable damage in the vicinity south of Compton. In one rural school taught by Clifford Archer, south of Compton, every window light in the building was said to have been broken by the heavy hail stones. Hail and wind which accompanied the storm in Reynolds, Bradford and Brooklyn townships, scores of windows being broken by the big hail stones and several buildings being moved from their foundations by the high wind.

The storm was especially severe east and south of the Reynolds church, all of the glass in several farm homes being broken out. Among these were dwellings on the farms of Oscar Winer, Mrs. Susan Butler, M. M. Olson, Jacob Henert, Charles Kerz and George Danekas.

On the latter's farm the barn was moved several inches from its foundation and the house on the William Totten place was moved three feet, it was reported this morning.

MAN IS FOUND DEAD; LIQUOR PARTY PROBED

Police Investigating
Masquerade Party
Held Last Eve.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Toronto, Ont., April 25.—A coroner's jury investigating the death of Carl A. Lynn, actor, is trying to determine if liquor was served at a masquerade party which preceded his death.

He was found at the bottom of the stairs of his hotel with a fractured skull, shortly after a celebration arranged by Fay Bainter to mark the hundredth presentation on the road of "The Dream Girl," a musical comedy, in which she is starring.

Four of the 18 witnesses examined yesterday, said that liquor had been obtained by some of the masqueraders.

Miss Bainter testified that they were "perfectly respectable."

She denied that there was any whiskey at the party and said the best furnished by the hotel was not intoxicating.

Noble Sissle and Eubie Blake, negro stars of the "Chocolate Dandies" company, who were present as entertainers, testified to the presence of liquor. Blake said he was invited to a room where Miss Bainter was entertaining friends and helped himself from a bottle of whiskey on the table.

The inquiry is unfinished.

Dixon and Sterling Toastmasters' Meet

Friday night the Dixon Toastmasters with their wives were the guests of the Sterling Toastmasters at a banquet given in the Lutheran church in Sterling. Fifty members of the local club motored up to enjoy the evening. During the banquet the song leader Lyle Wilcox introduced a number of new songs, which were followed by a number of "stunts" that took away any idea of formality, and which started the excellent friendly feeling and good-fellowship that existed during the whole evening.

The president, Jno. Wagner, introduced the speakers, Dr. C. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Shepherd and A. G. Harris, who spoke on the "Toastmaster's club idea and its future. In the parliamentary practice that followed several were given the job of acting as chairman when every person present tried through Roberts Rules of Order to entangle the "Chairman."

The Dixon delegation took with them the club quartet who sang a club take-off on each member of the Sterling club. The quartet replied to the many encores with additional verses.

The next go-together of the two clubs is dated for some time in June when all members and wives will go to Starved Rock for the afternoon and evening.

MY HEART LEAPS UP—
My heart leaps up when I behold
A rainbow in the sky;
So was it when my life began,
So is it now I am a man,
So be it when I shall grow old,
Or let me die!
The child is father of the man;
And I could wish my days to be Bound each to each by natural piety.
—W. Wordsworth.

MOVIE CENSOR IS NOT TO BE INVITED—
Chicago, April 25.—The position of the movie censor is an unhappy one, according to Miss Alice Miller, president of the Chicago Motion Picture Censor Board. In addition, pictures are growing worse, she said.
"The children regard us in the light of joy killers, the film magnates brand us as property destroyers and the general public looks upon us as reformers. The last epithet is the hardest to bear," she said.

"Yet the records of our work prove the steady growth of salacious influences directing the production of pictures. In the first six months of 1924 we reviewed 757 films. Out of them, we deleted 690 scenes depicting assaults with a gun with intent to kill. In the last half of the year, in the same number of pictures, more than 2,100 such scenes had to be censored."

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—
Alcohol on Varnish.
If alcohol is spilled on varnish, wash with water immediately or pour on oil.

Avoid Strong Acids.
Do not use strong acids or alkalis on metals connected with plumbing.

Rugs That Won't Curl.
To keep small rugs from curling, sew some stiff material like buckram or haircloth on the underside of the corners.

Keep Soup Simmering.
A soup that is not kept at the simmering point all the time it is cooking will be lacking in flavor.

Cook Puddings Slowly.
All puddings that should be smooth and creamy such as custard, bread, rice, tapioca and the like should bake or steam slowly as they are tough if cooked rapidly.

Lemon With Rice.
A teaspoonful of lemon juice to a quart of water will make rice very white and keep the grains separated when boiled.

Emergency Lunches.
For emergency lunches keep on your kitchen shelf a jar of salad dressing, a can of salmon, tuna fish and sardines as well as pickles, catsups and relishes.

OBITUARY

Franklin Grove, April 23—Charles Collin Hartzell was born near Franklin Grove, Ill., on December 26, 1890. On November 18, 1917 he was married to Miss Lulu Fike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fike, of Waterloo, Iowa. On July 9, 1911 at the age of 21 he gave his heart to the Lord and was received in the Church of the Brethren at Franklin Grove, and has lived a faithful loyal Christian life. The illness which caused his death was first noticed early in February. He and his wife arrived at Mt. Morris, Ill., on Sunday evening April 12 at which place they expected to make their home. He became seriously ill on Monday and was removed to the Lincoln hospital at Rochelle on Wednesday morning, where he passed to the Great Beyond at 11 o'clock that night. He leaves to mourn his loss: his beloved wife, Lulu Fike Hartzell; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hartzell, of Franklin Grove; and one sister, Mrs. Hazel H. Royer, of Chicago. Thus ends the life of a faithful, cheerful Christian young man. Funeral services were held at the Brethren church Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. G. I. Wine of Mt. Morris, assisted by Rev. O. D. Buck of Franklin Grove. The pallbearers, singers and a large number of friends were in attendance from Mt. Morris. The large assembly present and the many beautiful floral tributes were evidence of the respect and esteem of the neighbors and friends of the deceased. Interment was made in the Emmert cemetery, west of town.

At the village election Tuesday, seventy-six votes were polled, with the result of electing: Dr. W. L. Moore for president; for trustees, A. B. Naylor, John E. Maronde, E. O. Orner. Wm. E. Brown was elected village clerk and J. S. Tompkins police magistrate. The fact that there was no other ticket in the field is evidence that the public will be satisfied with those men and will assist them in whatever way they can.

A Ford coupe going south on the Lincoln Highway east of town was wrecked yesterday morning at the curve near the railroad crossing, Edward and Herman Greenfield, from north of town, were the occupants of the car. They discovered that they had a flat tire on the coupe and in attempting to turn around at the corner, the wheels hit a ditch and the car upset. Edward was painfully cut and bruised while his brother was only bruised.

George Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stewart, expects to leave today for Memphis, Tenn., where he has accepted a position with a large packing house concern. He has a host of friends here who wish him success in his new field of labor.

Thomas London Jones, installed as elders: Clarence Colwick, Ernest Miller and Lewis Meyers. Previous to the installation services the pastor gave a splendid address concerning the Presbyterian church, its constitution and the duties of the Elders. The address was full of valuable information. The pastor was assisted by the Senior Elders, Joseph Gilbert, Willis Reigle and Henry Dierdorf.

Is Today Your Birth Anniversary?

SATURDAY, APRIL 25—If today your birthday, you often will be tempted to seek a stage career. You have much latent ability along this line, but you lack the courage to fight an uphill battle against big odds. Because of this, it will be difficult for you to succeed on the stage. Learn to use a little more will power when you face discouragement. Remember there is usually a bright side to every discouraging situation.

SUNDAY, APRIL 26—If today is your birthday, you are by nature a reformer and have strong beliefs on a variety of subjects. You believe it is your duty to readjust a number of our political and social affairs. Yet you are not a fanatic. You generally have a practical plan for accomplishing the reforms you desire.

If a woman you will always look well in red and all its tinted shades. You will be a natural home builder and love children.

THE NAVAL HORNET NEST.

The launching of the airplane carrier Saratoga was a pleasant surprise in the national defense program. Few Americans had realized that the United States was going to have in commission, very soon, the most up-to-date of all naval vessels afloat.

This strange vessel, with a flat deck nearly 900 feet long, will house seventy-two planes, of which forty will be for scouting and air fighting and thirty-two for bombing. There will be ample accommodations for aviators, fuel, ammunition and extra parts.

The cost is $45,000,000, about that of a modern battleship. The value should be far greater than that of any existing battleship. Civilians have not forgotten, if naval men have, how Britannia stopped ruling the waves and locked up her famous battleships in a safe harbor, during the recent unpleasantness. The latest British battlecraft is a ship of hybrid type, housing a flock of planes like the Saratoga, but also mounting a few big guns.

The airplane-carrier, according to theory, will let loose her fighting planes like a swarm of hornets when an enemy approaches, and follow them with the bombing planes to blow up his ships. Yet suppose the enemy gets the drop on our fine mother-of-planes, and drops a few tons of lyddite on that deck, and down into the capacious hold, before her planes can take off. General Mitchell thinks an easily possible thing for an enemy to accomplish.

That hornet-nest will go forth and meet the enemy at sea, if it can. Yet an enemy may not come with a naval fleet. He may come invisibly above the clouds.

The hornet-nest is good, as far as it goes. But some very respectable authorities insist that for home defenses, there is nothing so important as a competent fleet of land planes. And $45,000,000 will buy several thousand planes.

PHILOSOPHY FOR UNREST.

Now that nearly everything else has been tried to cure industrial, political and social unrest, a lot of heavy thinkers in England are going to try philosophy.

They have organized a British Institute of Philosophical Studies, with Lord Balfour as president, and are going to start in immediately. They have a council consisting of more than one hundred leading men and women in the realms of philosophy, science, education, politics and industry. They will have "courses of lectures and classes under tutorial guidance," beginning next fall when the cool weather makes thinking easier.

They may succeed, too—in the course of a few thousand years. It may take that long to make the majority of mankind philosophers, who have thought their way clear through the big problems of life and are ready to apply their solutions. It is probably the right way. But the way is lengthy and hard, and is complicated by the mournful fact that the big philosophers themselves so seldom agree.

For the present and the near future, little more need be expected in the way of practical results than to make the philosophers themselves philosophical—that is to say, bring them into a state of mind where they can endure the evils they can not cure. That will help their own unrest, if not the world's. When Lord Balfour himself left Beirut the other day, wonder if his exit was strictly philosophical?

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IN CHICAGO.

Chicago's rejection of municipal ownership of its transportation system by a big majority, is of big moment.

The burden would have been tremendous. The capital expenditure involved was $550,000,000. That would have been spread over a period of forty years, but would have meant a great financial burden from the start. It might mean a greater burden right along for current expenditure.

Cities generally get along pretty well with such matters as street paving and sewers, waterworks, parks and libraries. In other kinds of business their record in this country is less satisfactory.

If Chicago had really gone into this big transportation game, as owner and operator, it might have led many other cities to do likewise. As matters stand, its adverse decision will confirm the tendency to leave public utilities in private hands, subject to whatever measure of public control experience shows to be necessary.

TRADE.

Foreign trade of the United States, world's super salesman, amounted to 82 hundred million dollars in 1924, an increase of 240 millions over 1923.

Exports increased; imports decreased; favorable balance of trade, so called, grew 600 millions larger.

You learn that Great Britain, instead of Canada, is now our biggest customer, although we get most of our imports from Canada. Listing the customers, in order of their purchases, they are Great Britain, Canada, Germany, France, Japan, Cuba, Italy and Holland.

Countries from which we import chiefly are, in order, Canada, Great Britain, Cuba, Japan, Brazil, Mexico, Straits Settlements, France and Germany.

When a negro decides to kill a white citizen in the south, he is wise if he says his prayers first. His funeral generally is held the same day as the white man's. When a thug kills a citizen in Chicago, he sometimes gets his picture in the papers, unless he escapes at once.

IT TAKES SELF-CONTROL

Someone has put out another book on the folly of controlling children by fear. The book is good, and so is the doctrine. This trouble is that it can never teach those who need it most. It takes self-control to control others by anything but force and fear, and this is exactly what most parents and some teachers lack.

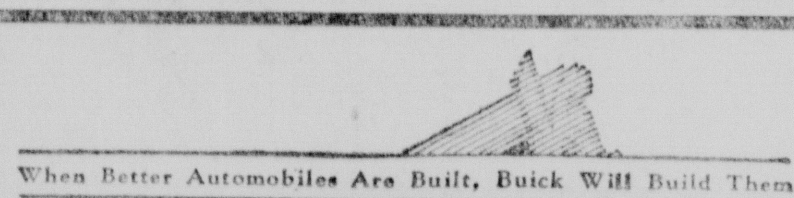

But why does not somebody write another book on the equal folly of controlling adults by fear? Employers talk of the greater "efficiency of labor" at times when jobs are scarce and the men are afraid of losing them.

The fact is that even this "efficiency" of frightened men is far less than their capacities. And the rule that men work hardest when there is least work to do applies only to those who work for wages.

The farmer and his family do not slack on the job when crops are ripening and harvest hands scarce. That is the very time they work hardest.

The most nearly valid part of the indictment of "capitalism" by the Socialists is based on precisely this fact: that the motive of fear of losing his job brings out of the worker less than his productive capacity at all times, and less of all at precisely the times when it is needed most.

War settles few things. Facts settle most. As witness the fact that

"There he goes!" said Nick looking through his sky-glass down at the earth. "I see the goblin."

"There he goes!" said Nick looking through his spy-glass down at the earth. "I see the goblin."

"Where?" cried Nancy.

"See him running!" pointed Nick. Master Whizz and Nancy looked over the edge of the aeroplane (they had just left Beanstalk Land and sure enough! There was Snitcher Snatch with the snuff box under his arm, running for dear life along a road.

"Now what is he up to do you suppose?" said Master Whizz. "He had done about enough mischief with that snuff, and the Fairy Queen's uncle will be tried waiting for it."

"Look!" said Nancy. "He's going into a school house."

"My! My! That's dreadful," said Master Whizz, shaking his head. "Snuff has no right in a school house of all places. We'll have to get him out of that at once, if not sooner."

Down came the tiny aeroplane and Master Whizz parked it in the school yard.

"We'll peep in at the window," said he, "and see what is going on."

So three pairs of eyes peeped over the edge of the window sill, and what do you think they saw?

Snitcher Snatch seated in a back seat behind a big geography book and pretending to study. The teacher never noticed him at all.

"We'll now sing 'America,'" said the teacher. "Close books! Stand! Sing!"

So the children began:

"My country 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing!
Land where—ahchoo, ahchoo!
Choo! Choo! Ahchoo! Ahchoo!"

the fate of France is still dependent on what happens in Germany.

No government can hold office in France at this moment more than provisionally until Germany determines whether it elects Hindenburg or not. And if the present spirit in Germany were similar to that which French demagogues have been trying to cultivate in France, that is exactly what Germany would do.

It is only because Germany has had a harder lesson in facts than France has yet been willing to accept that there is little reason to anticipate any such folly by the Germans. And it is only because the unbluffable logic of the franc exchange is giving France the lesson of facts which its politicians were too cowardly to assign that France is hopeful, too.

THE AGE OF MIRACLES—IT IS NOW

Three "miracles" at once were represented in the recent feat of taking an X-ray picture of the bones of a living human hand in New York and transmitting it to Chicago by telephone in seven minutes and by airmail in nine hours.

In all the dreams of the miracle-makers, from Aladdin to Faust and all the workers of magic and myths, only one of these three was even suggested and that the least—the magic carpet—to fly from place to place.

The birds already did that so it took little imagination to conceive of men doing so also. But to see the invisible and transmit it instantly across the world—that was beyond the wildest dreams of fancy. The Age of Miracles is not in the distant past. It is now.

At that minute she spied the goblin's long nose and back of it the goblin himself.

"Who are you?" she asked in surprise.

"A visitor," said Snitcher Snatch sneezing. "I came to take lessons."

At that the teacher seized a stick and drove him out.

The twins laughed. "He still has the snuff box," said Master Whizz solemnly.

Anderson, for instance, going to Switzerland, where there are three official languages, French, German and Italian, can doubtless speak all three. Which of our boasted "shirt-sleeve diplomats" could speak one?

In fact, we may be diplomatic enough to suggest that the chief handicap of these "career women" for promotion in the service will be that they are too good diplomats.

Women are the diplomats of the world, even in private life. Their charm and intelligence will be assets as third secretaries. Would they not be too much of a good thing as ambassadors?

It would be tremendously valuable. But it would be "we," not "it." Rather one second in which "it" shook hands, myself, personally, just "it" with the president, then half an hour in which "we" participated in an interesting and inspiring experience. The president knows human nature.

From every standpoint of reason and efficiency, the secretaries were of course right. It would be easier for the president and much more useful to the visitors. Instead of a meaningless second apiece of handshake, they would have perhaps 20 minutes of rather intimate personal impression of the president in action, at his best, with such personal or national message as the day might bring forth.

What is "we" compared to "me"? It is illustrated in the tactfulness of President Coolidge in declining the suggestion of his secretaries that he conserve energy by omitting the daily hand shaking reception to all comers and gathering the visitors. Instead, in a group where he could address them a daily brief speech.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful flapper, marries DICK GREG-ORY, struggling young lawyer.
Her idea of marriage is good times, good clothes . . . and no work or children!

Dick borrows his mother's maid, MAGGIE, to teach Gloria to cook. But she refuses to learn.

Dick has an attack of flu.
While he is working at home with MISS BRIGGS, his secretary, Gloria plans a house-warming. She asks STANLEY WAY-BURN, an actor with whom she was once in love, to be one of the guests. He accepts.

When Dick meets Wayburn he is instantly jealous, although the actor devotes himself to MRS.
GAIL. Gloria drinks too much,
and faints away while dancing
with DR. JOHN SEYMOUR, whose wife, MAY, is in love with JIM CAREWE. The party breaks up when LOLA HOUGH scolds BILL, her husband, for petting Maggie, disgusted, quits her job and returns to MOTHER GREGORY.

Then Gloria hires RANGHILD SWANSON, although Dick tells her they can't afford a maid.
And she buys $400 worth of clothes, besides! Then she begs Dick to buy her an automobile.
He says he hasn't enough money to do it.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"I sell my own car, I'll make it enough on the sale to pay down something on the new one for you," Dick said. "I don't suppose I really need that old speed-ster of mine. It would probably do me good to walk to the office once in a while."

"You do look pale, Dick," Gloria said, "and I'm not saying that just because I want you to sell your car."
" . . . You really don't look well."

But as the days went by Gloria thought that Dick had forgotten all about the little blue car.

On the morning of her twenty-first birthday Dick was gone when she opened her eyes, after a night of deep, dreamless sleep.

"Did Mr. Gregory take his car this morning?" she asked Ranghild when she brought up her breakfast tray.

"He did, ma'am," Ranghild answered. "And an hour ago a man drove a new car into our driveway.
It's standing there, now."

Gloria leaped from bed. She ran downstairs in her bare feet and looked out of the sunroom window.

It was, with the sunshine striking its polished sides . . . her little blue Winged Victory! Her very own! Gloria thrilled with happiness as she stood looking at it.

While she was dressing the telephone rang.

"This is Miss Briggs speaking," came a cool, low voice over the wire.
"Mr. Gregory asked me to tell you that an instructor would be out
about twelve to teach you to drive
the new automobile."

"Thanks," Gloria said shortly. She hung up the receiver with a bang.
What right had Dick to give Miss Briggs a message like that for her?

Why should Miss Briggs have to know that she didn't know how to run an automobile . . . that her family had never owned one?

And why hadn't Dick telephoned, himself, to wish her a happy birthday?

There had been a time only a few short weeks ago when he had called her up three or four times a day just to hear the sound of her voice.

Oh, well, that was the way marriage changed a man! As soon as he had you, he stopped caring for you
that an instructor would be out
about twelve to teach you to drive
the new automobile.

THE demonstrator arrived a little before twelve, and drove Gloria to Lincoln Park. As they bowed

IN NEW YORK

New York—"Why don't you come out to my neighborhood and get something interesting for your column?" asks Bill Whelan. He lives at the northern tip of Manhattan where the Hudson and Harlem rivers join at Spuyten Duyvil.

"What's out there?"

"Well, there's a hill that runs from Dyckman street to Spuyten Duyvil. It used to belong to Rockefeller but now it's part of the city park system. Under the brow of this hill are caves dug by the Indians. From those caves they could look out upon the Hudson and they were protected from attack from the rear."

"Indian caves right here in the city?"

"Yes, and if you come out I'll show you where a snake at least six feet long was caught in a landslide or glacial movement centuries ago and was turned to stone. You can see it in the face of the cliff."

"And there's a big tulip tree out there, the biggest in this part of the country. It has been preserved through tree surgery and it's fenced off for protection against curious seekers. There's a plate on the tree telling that it marks the spot where Henry Hudson landed."

"And there's a pottery on that hill where they make some sort of pottery that isn't made any place else.

"Near the pottery there are war gardens, little plots of ground fenced off eight years ago. The fences are still there and some of the same people still claim their plots to plant gardens."

"Well, well, farmers and gardeners right here in Manhattan the most congested area in the world?"

"Why, say," Bill goes on, "did you know that they had tuberculosis camps on that hill, one for Jews and one for Christians? Those camps have a greater percentage of cures than any other place in the state except the one at Saranac. Some of those people are being cured of tuberculosis to more than a block or two from where they lived and contracted it."

"Come on out there some day and I'll show you the bootleg boats. Every once in a while I can look out my window and see a rum runner come through Spuyten Duyvil in a fast speed boat, with a police boat in pursuit. Sometimes the rum runner will go down the Harlem river, but sometimes he will sneak into a wharf and hide while the police boat passes."

"And say, when the sun goes down over the palisades it makes just about the prettiest sunset you ever saw with the sky above the cliff all crimson and the river in a purple shadow. I think you could find something to write about if you were to come out."

"Thanks, Bill, that will help me fill the column some day. Thanks a lot."

"The Dixon Community—A good place to live—Make it a Better Place!"

THIS NEWSPAPER ENDORSES THE PLAN TO BETTER THE SOCIAL, CIVIC AND ECONOMIC CONDITIONS OF THIS COMMUNITY AND PLEDGES ITS UNQUALIFIED SUPPORT

This newspaper is always heartily in accord with any movement which tends to make the community it represents a better place in which to live and work. We feel that this is a great opportunity for Dixon and the community. We are offered an opportunity to work with some of the big organizations of this country for our own good. Many industrial, farm, labor and governmental organizations are watching and working with our Control Committee in putting over our city and community. They are keenly interested because we are taking the lead in placing the smaller cities of this country on the map. Others will follow but we are the leaders in this great movement.

Social

Just to give you an idea—under Social activities, the plan provides for a study of places of amusement and wholesome recreation; theaters, churches, and anything that will react to the good of the community in a social way. Community events are included, too.

Civic

Under improved Civic conditions, the plan provides for the study of laws for the community good; traffic regulations; good roads; educational facilities; legal regulations that will attract desirable people to the community.

Economic

Under improved Economic conditions, the plan provides for a study of improvement in transportation facilities; adequate marketing and industrial facilities; ample and complete merchandise in our stores to attract people to our city and community.

This is for All of Us—Let's All Co-operate!

The one idea that this newspaper wants to drive home in this advertisement is that we are presented with a wonderful opportunity to better the condition of each and every one of us. This proposed "bigger and better community plan" is not for the benefit of a few merchants, farmers, manufacturers, newspapers, etc., but for the whole community. All of us are interested in our city or we would not live in it. We must be interested in its progress.

Now, when the interviewer representing the Edwin B. Booz Surveys comes to you for information, give it to him freely and sincerely. He is working toward a better Dixon so he is working for YOU. Co-operate with the people making this survey. It is only through a complete and thorough analysis of our conditions that we can know what to do to make them better. Work with these folks who are working earnestly for you and your community.
